WASHINGTONVILLE LOCAL GLEANINGS

By Peter M. Herold.

This world is all a fleeting show
For man's illusion, the tears of woe,
Deceitful shine, deceitful flow,
There's nothing true but heaven!

—Thomas Moore.

Lisbon fair this week.

What has come of our rifle club and the gun club?

Warm days and chilly nights indicate that fall is with us.

Miss Rona Eyster has been laid up the past week with tonsillitis.

J. L. Rolter and wife of Youngstown spent Sunday here with relatives.

This has been a good season for mushrooms. Why not can them?

John Barnes has built a new lunch wagon for use here on busy nights.

Mrs. Mary Senler has returned from the Youngstown hospital slightly improved.

The present address of "Skits" Butler is U. S. S. South Dakota, Mare Island, Cal.

Samuel Snyder and wife of Dublin, Ind., are visiting relatives here and at Salem.

The great event for farmers and city people is the Canfield fair, Sept. 27, 28 and 29.

School will begin at Franklin Square next Monday with Jos. Thorp as one of the teachers.

Carrier & Simpson have newly roofed the residence occupied by Samuel Frederick on Union street.

Richard Wilkinson has had his residence on Washington street beautified by paint and trimmings.

Charles Lewis, wife and Miss Carrie Bertolotto of Cleveland visited their parents here on Sunday.

Ed. Grubbs of Franklin Square was recently operated upon for appendicitis at the Youngstown City hospital.

Common sense triumphed in Leetonia when health officer McCready took the lid off, so far as delivering milk on Sunday is concerned.

Isaac E. Huffman, who is Grand Master of Ohio Odd Fellows, says that order is growing in this state, and this year will reach 100,000 members.

Mrs. Susan Rohrer, who has been ailing with blood poison for about five months, is slowly improving, having been under treatment of five physicians.

A coal miner named Wolf recently came here from Fuscarawas county and the band found he could play a cornet, so they absorbed him.

Tony Pasich has quit Delmore mine and is operating a machine at Fairview mine.

David Barnes, a member of Co. D, 126th O. V. I., died at his home in Leetonia Sept. 5, aged 72. He was a member of Captain Paley's company.

Wounded at the battle of the Wilderness, was confined in Libby prison and was mustered out with his company.

The saloon element in Columbiana county have a movement on foot to establish a newspaper advocating their principles, to be published at Leetonia or East Liverpool. Nothing is yet known as to its editors, but it is said to have good substantial backing as to money.

The Y. & O. people have sent word that unless we protect their property at stop 11, they will take it away.

In its present condition it is a nuisance, and its removal would be a consummation devoutly to be wished.

There's been more swear words about stop 11 than any other evil now upon the market.

Thomas S. Mackintosh, as guardian for John W. Baghurst aged 17 years, has sued the W. H. Mullens Co. for $5,000 damages for injuries received by his hand July 19 while working for defendant company.

Baghurst is a recent arrival from England and had never worked in a shop or factory.

Rev. D. L. Clark preached in the M. E. Church at 2:30 Sunday p. m., from Paul's epistle to Timothy 4: 1 and 2, emphasizing "Preach the word."

He announced preaching here for next Sunday night at 7 o'clock. This will be his last sermon before the meeting of the East Ohio conference, which convenes in Niles September 21 for one week's session.

Our ball team, with several scalp locks hanging from their belt and war paint upon their faces, went by trolley line to Columbiana last Saturday afternoon and got what they expected. They say they had to play nine men and the umpire, but the umpire is usually held responsible for all defeats.

However, the score book shows a good game for both teams. The citizens of that business little city do not take much interest in the ball games played there and their crowds are usually small, the crowd from here being greater than that from there.

The following line up and score by innings will show that we were defeated 8 to 10:

Columbiana Washingtonville
Troll ..... 3b ..... Clunen
P. Felger ..... 2b ..... C. Holland
Stiller ..... c ..... Weikart
Shontz ..... 1b ..... Shontz
H. Felger ..... p ..... A. Holland
C. Crook ..... 3b ..... Cassidy
C. Hoover ..... 2b ..... Atkinson
P. Hoover ..... 1b ..... Hess
Albright ..... rf ..... Idemrill
Redford, umpire.

Innings 1 2 3 4 5 6 7 8 9
Columbiana 0 0 0 1 2 4 1 0 8
Washingtonville 0 0 0 1 3 1 0 8

Among the features of the game was when Cassidy threw a ball from left field to home plate; the battery of Holland and Weikart; the good work of Willstouffer on first base and of Atkinson in middle field. They say that Germany failed to play as good ball as he did on Labor day. The man of Swiss features who will be there on all four upon the gridiron.

Still sparring under the collar from recent defeats, the "Clodhoppers" would like to play another game or two with our team, and it is reported that they are soliciting funds from the business men of Leetonia with which to play on for $100, but our club treasury is full and we don't need the money.

Oysters in market.

The sick of the village are convalescing.

Edward Vigmon is home from Youngstown.

L. Schmeiderberger was in town Tuesday with a box of peaches.

James Skilborn of Youngstown spent Sunday at the Cottage hotel.

Mrs. S. C. Wilson and daughter Alpha were in Salem Tuesday evening.

E. S. Freed and C. E. Bertolotto have had gas piped into their dwellings.

Geo. Dunn will move from Millville to Salem to educate his daughter Dorothy.

The corn, late potatoes and pasture are being benefited by the recent rains.

Dan Faloon did a good job of concrete work at his home on west Main street.

Mr. Paxton, the junk man from Warren, was here Tuesday and Wednesday.

E. S. Freed made sale of his personal property last Saturday and has moved to Mt. Union.

John Simpson was with home folks last Friday and still walks lame from the effects of the railroad accident in Cleveland a few weeks ago.

J. N. Paisley has returned from his visit at Pittsburg, Kan., and the lead and zinc mines at Joplin, Mo., whose streets were paved by nature.

Meedames Cope and Hess of Salem were here Tuesday arranging for a Silver Medal contest to be held in the Methodist church Friday night.

Peter McCave of Gettysburg was here Tuesday trying to interest local capitalists in his projected gasoline railroad from Youngstown to Lisbon.

Willis B. Shontz, who pitched for the Texas league the past season, has returned home to Columbiana. He was formerly with the Wooster university team.

Robert Herold of the Crescent Machine Co. and Fred W. Weidmeyer, druggist of Leetonia, are hunting money and other big game in New Brunswick, Can.

Geo. Lentz of Salem went to Gary, Ind., last week on business, and Mrs. Lentz and daughter spent a few days during his absence at the home of her parents, L. Carrier and wife, in this place.

Salem furnishes 5 students for the various colleges of this country, 14 of whom go to the Ohio State University, Oberlin, Hiram, Western Reserve, Yale, Mt. Union, Notre Dame, Ann Arbor, Carnegie Technical, Cornell and others absorbing the remainder.

The local Erie depot has been painted inside and out, and the business office has been considerably enlarged to accommodate the increasing business of the road. Now, with a few of Pete McCave's gasoline motors going on an hourly schedule from Niles to Lisbon, we could hardly dispense with that much of the Y. & O. R. R.

The heavy downpour of rain in the early evening of Thursday caused several washouts along the Y. & O. tracks between Lisbon and East Liverpool, so that cars were unable to make the regular runs on schedule time for several hours.

A force of men was sent out with the line with shovels soon after the storm and as soon as it could be accomplished the tracks were again in good condition.

Last week when J. E. Lewis and wife were visiting at the home of their son Earl at Palmsville, they went fishing on Lake Erie and caught three blue pike.

They also visited the Storrs & Harrison nursery and flower garden of 400 acres; saw the unloading of iron ore at Fairport; visited the U. S. Life saving station, and saw many things new to them which will remind them of their visit.

Aaron Brubaker has left at his crib an ear of corn measuring eleven and one-half inches in length, having twelve rows of fully-developed grains. Green township produces good crops of grain, horses, cattle and citizens.

We have not seen Dan Lehman, a local farmer, for some time.

His improvements consist of a large triple house, a trestle 200 feet long built of steel and concrete across Middle Fork of Beaver creek, enlarged track and new machinery. Improvements cost about $20,000. The mine has two entries, and this improves ventilation. It is thought that the output will be doubled.

The Tuscarawas county teachers' institute, in its series of resolutions, declared against the use of the title "professor" as applied to principals of high schools, and also against the custom of calling the teachers of graded schools "the faculty." The title of "professor" has been so much abused that many have discarded its use.

The teachers of Stark county unanimously endorsed the proposed pension bill for superannuated public school teachers. This bill provides pensions for teachers who have reached the age of 60 and have taught 30 years or more, the pension to be one-half of the average salary for the last 15 years of service, provided such amount does not exceed $500 a year or fall below $300.

A capitalist from Braddock, Pa., is drilling for coal near the Franklin road and will invest $100,000 in the enterprise. The lease includes 2,400 acres of land between the Y. & O. road and the Ft. Wayne tracks. A shaft 100 feet deep will be needed. The mammoth tippie will be constructed entirely of steel and will extend across both the steam and the electric roads. The project is backed by C. E. Dinkley, president of the Carnegie steel works at Braddock, and secretary-treasurer of the Buck Coal company of Salem. The prime object is to supply the Pennsy with coal, the new shaft to take the place of the Prospect Hill mine at East Palestine, which has been exhausted. It will then be the only coal mine in the Ft. Wayne division between Pittsburg and St. Wayne. About 200 miners will be needed. M. J. Flynn, mine boss at the Buck mine, will act in the same capacity at the new shaft.

Miss Ella Girard is attending the Canfield Normal College.

An effort is being made at Lisbon to organize a county bar association.

Albert Hubbard asserts that "the sun would come up if never a rooster crowed."

Threshers cleared up 490 bushels of oats and 65 bushels of wheat on the Simpson farm, Wednesday.

A middle-aged lady can get a home and reasonable weekly pay by addressing E. O. Box 76, Washingtonville, O.

L. U. Hullin has accepted the position of principal of the Damascus high school, formerly the Damascus academy.

The football team here has not yet been organized and no lineup has been made, yet the young men are practicing many evenings.

Edward Longbottom and wife of Fairburg, Livingston county, Ill., are here visiting his brothers John H. Thomas and Jonathan.

Farmers desiring barrels suitable for cider can get them in any quantity from the Rose Hill Liquor Co., if taken soon. Will be sold cheap.

Somebody called Charley Longbottom's horse from his wagon Wednesday afternoon and then paid 50 cents to have it hitched up again.

Salem News: Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Hotchkiss of Pittsburg were in the city Saturday while enroute home after a few days' visit with friends in Washingtonville.

The quality of news items depends upon their being fresh and truthful. The Mahoning Dispatch has all the news all the time, with no jealous innuendoes.

Ex-representative Elijah W. Hill of East Liverpool has been adjudged a bankrupt by Judge Taylor of Cleveland. He owes $33,949 more than he is able to pay.

The Lisbon schools, teachers and pupils were allowed two days to attend the county fair. The Washingtonville schools are usually given the middle day of the Canfield fair.

The county commissioners will let the contract Saturday for grading the road from Lisbon through Washingtonville to Youngstown.

They may also examine the strip of bad road from the cross-roads into town.

An aggregation of live wires from Logtown, near Lisbon, have been engaged to play ball here Saturday afternoon and the Columbiana fast team will play a return game here the Saturday following.

Gil Taylor came from Millville on his bicycle behind an auto Wednesday morning, and when the auto slowed down to the speed limit Gil, was ahead when they reached the railroad at the Main street crossing.

A good roads boulevard extending from Salem to Leetonia through Washingtonville, is one of the improvements under consideration by the Business Men's associations of the two terminal cities.

The school board met Tuesday night to devise some way to relieve the congestion of room No. 2. The only means at hand was to have half sessions for half the pupils the same as caused the racket in No. 1 last year. But No. 2 is different.

Samuel Washington and son William attended the funeral of Warren Baylis who was buried at Salem Tuesday afternoon. Baylis will be remembered by our people as the colored coachman for Dr. Rhodes. Daily papers announcing his death by suicide gave his name as Warren Simpson.

The alleged dynamites of the Leetonia Presbyterian church on the night of June 11, last year, are behind the bars. Walter and Jerome Engleston made affidavit before the county judge at Lisbon and John B. Morrison nursery and flower garden of 400 acres; saw the unloading of iron ore at Fairport; visited the U. S. Life saving station, and saw many things new to them which will remind them of their visit.
